ALL EYES ON HORIZON FOR FUNCTIONAL AND STYLISH DESIGN

Very often when designing motorhome and campervan interiors, style comes second to functionality. Durability and ease of maintenance are the main priorities along with layout practicalities. Although concentrating on the essentials has proven to work well in the RV industry, Horizon Motorhomes has taken it one step further, combining style and practical design seamlessly to create functional yet attractive interiors.

All Horizon models have exceptional storage space perfected with top-of-the-range materials. Clayton and his team have used every available space to allow owners to stow belongings out of sight in their own little place. Because every available space is used, the storage sizes and locations vary across each of the eight models.

Horizon Motorhomes' Grevillea and Waratah models have the option of a double bed that can be electronically raised at the press of a switch - there's one at either end of the bed - revealing massive storage space. Being able to use every corner of your boot increases storage efficiency and internal and external boot access is provided.

Making up the bed is easier thanks to the walkway around the bedside and leaves room for a bedside cabinet with additional storage. The models that feature a dinette have great, hidden storage. You can hide your belongings under the dinette seats, in a small storage area beside the extra seat or in a large, deep drawer underneath.

Common across all the Horizon models are three wall pockets to store remotes, magazines and books. The pocket colour and fabric are matched to the upholstery of the motorhome and the positioning can be tailored to customer needs.

If you choose to opt for two single beds in your motorhome (in every model except the Banksia and Acacia) you have a double, cushioned box between them, providing two bedside cabinets and an extra seating area.

It's not just storage issues that are solved with Horizon's clever design. The range of upholstery options includes Italian leather hide or a softer, more durable kangaroo leather. The Fiat-based motorhomes also have the option of a Black and White Pack, giving the motorhome a fresh and modern look that creates a feeling of even more space. There are now three* colour options to choose from across the range: Beech, Wheat and Almond.

Four options for the Fiat vehicles with the Black and White Pack.*
